We are delighted to be hosting this nationally significant conference highlighting the impact of food poverty and food insecurity throughout Cornwall and would love you to join us for this very important event.

The aim of the day is to discuss and formulate a conference paper that can be presented both locally and nationally as a base model for other organisations across the country, including local and national government. This paper will be made available to all delegates electronically and you will be encouraged to take an active part in shaping and sharing the findings.

The day will consist of keynote speakers (both local and national), workshops and plenty of discussion amongst all delegates. Of course, there will also be networking opportunities.

The conference is free to attend and refreshments, including a pasty lunch will be provided.

In the first instance and to reserve your place, please forward your name, position and email address to endhungercornwall@gmail.com

Please let us know as soon as possible as the delegate list will be closed on 21st September.
