CREATION FEST

10 Days Until The Adventure Begins...

Hey Roger,

10 days until the adventure... buy one get one free!!

We're offering a BOGO sale for all our existing and new campers. This means when you buy one ticket you get one ticket... FREE! For those who have yet to buy a ticket, take this as another opportunity to invite someone to camp with you (they don't have to share your tent, unless you really want them to :) And for those who have already purchased their tickets, think of it like a 'bought one, get one' deal and add another friend, kid, neighbour, coworker... whoever you want!

Secure Your Plot!

Who have you invited? Who are you bringing? This is your moment to invite any and everyone you know! Too broad and daunting a task? Here's a few specific opportunities you might have—ask your sibling who has walked away from faith, that co-worker who keeps asking you about God, or your child who is coming home. Make an exciting holiday out of it! Visit us 1-4 August and take a day to jump in the ocean or go for a hike along the cliffs. We would love for you to spend every moment of your time in Cornwall at the festival, but our true hope is that you would explore questions, encounter God, and experience joy wherever you go.

When you click the link below, there's an option to donate to the mission of Creation Fest: presenting the Gospel in a fun and exciting way and encouraging believers. Your donation of £10 might seem like a small amount (around the same as 2 cups of coffee from your local shop) but it makes a big difference!
