Hey Friends,

I've been so encouraged by the stories of students inviting their friends to church and for some that has led to seeing them come to know Jesus personally. Recently while speaking at a conference in Bulgaria, I met Terry who is a medical student. Terry invited his friend Abhishek to church, and even though Abhishek was a Hindu, he turned up to church with Terry. This church meets in a house, is full of students and is led by students too, over the past year Abhishek has been coming to church with Terry, getting involved in socials and even meetings that the church has hosted.

A few weeks ago, during that conference, Abhishek gave his life to Jesus. Over a year after Terry invited him, over a year of a church intentionally loving and welcoming him, and over a year of navigating questions and doubts, Abhishek in that moment, met the Jesus that Terry has known all his life.

There is something powerful about students sharing their faith and their stories with friends in their lives who don't yet know Jesus. We've seen an openness to God not just with those with no faith backgrounds but also with those of other faiths. We at Fusion, are intentionally leaning in to connect and come alongside students like Terry who are boldly sharing their faith and inviting others to join in.

STUDENT EVANGELISTS NETWORK

A space to connect with each other, learn and grow in catalysing mission through the local church.

Over the past few months, we at Fusion have launched the Student Evangelists Network, a space for student evangelists from across the UK to connect with each other, learn and grow in catalysing mission through the local church.

I'd love to invite you to join the network if you are a student passionate about evangelism, or I'd love for you to forward this to a friend/student you know who should be connected.
