Hey wonderful people,

I hope you have had the most wonderful time of rest over this Christmas and New Year's break and are ready to start serving our young people again. There are a few exciting events coming up in the next couple of months, including Glow. I've also hand-picked a few great resources to help you plan some of your sessions.

Glow - February 26

Join us on the 26th of February for our next Glow session! It's shaping up to be an amazing time to encounter, encourage, and equip our young people as we be look at the topic of Friendships and Relationships with Tim Alford and Joe Hardy.

If you know you're brining a group you can secure your places here.

To help you promote Glow in your churches and youth groups we have made a little promo kit which you can download and use as needed. Promo Kit.

Please also be aware that we have changed the May Glow date to the 14th of May, as to make space for the kings coronation.

Geek Factory, 13-15 February

Geek Factory is a unique residential camp that explores the Christian faith through the love of all things Geeky!

It doesn't matter whether you are a hardcore self confessed geek or whether you just want to dip your toe into the geeky world, you will have a great time! Unlike many other youth camps and events out there, this camp has a unique feel because of the structure and tone of the event. This camp is relaxed, hilarious and puts an emphasis on people feeling comfortable to be themselves.
