

Falmouth + Penryn
Churches
Together

DR PATRICK SOOKHDEO

International Director, Barnabas Fund

Hated Without a Reason:

Why Christians are Persecuted Today

MON 6 JAN

7.30pm Falmouth Methodist Church

The Moor, TR1 13PG

All welcome

Join us in celebrating Epiphany by remembering those who are not free to do so

Including a presentation on the work of the Barnabas Fund in relieving the suffering of our fellow Christians

barnabasfund
hope and aid for the persecuted church

The twentieth century saw six great ideological movements develop, all of which have sought to crush the Christian faith. These ideological movements have now spilled over into the twenty-first century with much greater force. The seven are: communism, Maoism, fascism, Hindutva, Buddhist nationalism, Islamism, and secular humanism. At the same time, the Christian faith is growing rapidly within these contexts except the secular humanism which shapes the West. How are Christians responding? What should be done to assist them? These issues will be explored by Dr Patrick Sookhdeo, International Director of Barnabas Fund.

Patrick has world-wide connections including with non-Western Heads of State in the Middle East and elsewhere, Church leaders, plus previous involvement with NATO and Security Services - so he has a unique access to what is going on around the world which has enable him to truly prophetic. Those who attended his presentation in Truro 5 years ago will recall his predictions all of which have since come true.

However, he is most concerned these days about the Churches in the West which - as Martin Lloyd Jones observed earlier and RT Kendall recently - seem both "unprepared" and "asleep" with regard to what God is doing. His presentation is therefore designed to help us become aware of what our duties and responsibilities are.

Russell Blacker, Caucus for the Persecuted Church

Falmouth
+ Penryn
Churches
Together

DR PATRICK SOOKHDEO

International Director, Barnabas Fund

Hated Without a Reason:

Why Christians are Persecuted Today

MON 6 JAN

7.30pm Falmouth Methodist Church

The Moor, TR1 13PG

All welcome

Join us in celebrating Epiphany by remembering those who are not free to do so

Including a presentation on the work of the Barnabas Fund in relieving the suffering of our fellow Christians

barnabasfund
hope and aid for the persecuted church

The twentieth century saw six great ideological movements develop, all of which have sought to crush the Christian faith. These ideological movements have now spilled over into the twenty-first century with much greater force. The seven are: communism, Maoism, fascism, Hindutva, Buddhist nationalism, Islamism, and secular humanism. At the same time, the Christian faith is growing rapidly within these contexts except the secular humanism which shapes the West. How are Christians responding? What should be done to assist them? These issues will be explored by Dr Patrick Sookhdeo, International Director of Barnabas Fund.

Patrick has world-wide connections including with non-Western Heads of State in the Middle East and elsewhere, Church leaders, plus previous involvement with NATO and Security Services - so he has a unique access to what is going on around the world which has enable him to truly prophetic. Those who attended his presentation in Truro 5 years ago will recall his predictions all of which have since come true.

However, he is most concerned these days about the Churches in the West which - as Martin Lloyd Jones observed earlier and RT Kendall recently - seem both "unprepared" and "asleep" with regard to what God is doing. His presentation is therefore designed to help us become aware of what our duties and responsibilities are.

Russell Blacker, Caucus for the Persecuted Church